

direct™ – The smart NeXTSTEP communication manager.

direct.
Complete interaction with Workspace addresses.

- fast access to person related information
- efficient and easy to use keyboard control
- total integration into the Workspace address system
- create new information fields
- including smart telephone dialer
- integrated communication log
- any kind of documents can be attached to the address
- usable with small window size to preserve screen space
- runs on NeXTSTEP, both on NeXT computers and 486 PCs direct, the personal communication manager organizes all person-related information in a simple, yet flexible database. Its straightforward user interface gives you instant access to the information you need: look up any person with just a few keystrokes. direct sets up phone connections fast and without any trouble using its own smart phone dialer. Or select a phone number in any other application and use the direct dial service to call this number. You also may generate emails and faxes addressed to the person selected in direct.